

hansgrohe

A woman with long dark hair and a young girl with brown hair are in a kitchen. The woman is leaning over the girl, who is holding a yellow lemon. They are both looking at the lemon. The girl is using a wooden brush to scrub the lemon. Water is spraying from a black kitchen faucet onto the lemon. The faucet has a long, curved, flexible neck. In the background, there is a white shelf with some green plants and a wooden bowl.

Maximum Water Pleasure with Reduced Water Consumption

At hansgrohe, every drop counts. Our innovative products and groundbreaking technologies enable you to conserve resources and build sustainably while saving water, energy and money. We've focused our engineering on conservation without sacrificing comfort and utility.

Joleena faucets combine ease of use with sustainable technology. Comfort Zone means you'll always have just the right amount of space to use your sink. In products with EcoRight technology you can expect decreased hot water consumption, and reduced energy consumption, and therefore costs, accordingly*.

We've given a name to the space between the spout and the washbasin. We call it the comfort zone, and we've devoted a lot of thought and design to making this distance just right whether you're brushing your teeth or washing your hands.

hansgrohe's EcoRight technology reduces water consumption by up to 40%*. With the help of a specially designed "O" ring, hansgrohe products can respond precisely to available water pressure.

hansgrohe showerheads are equipped with flexible silicone nubs to protect the showerhead from water deposits. This makes our showerheads quick to clean and easy to maintain.

For new energy after a challenging day: the dynamic, revitalizing massage spray.

All Joleena shower faucets and lavatory faucets display the WaterSense label, meeting U.S. Environmental Protection Agency criteria for water efficiency. WaterSense-labeled products perform as well as or better than their less efficient counterparts.
