Revolutionize your daily shower experience with PowderRain

The daily shower has become a special part of every day life. The bathroom is a feel-good oasis where you can escape and recuperate from your hectic schedule. It's a place in the home where you can retreat; to relax, to de-stress and to switch off.

Imitating nature's own showers and drawing inspiration from the rainforest's warm and misty droplets, hansgrohe has developed the new PowderRain spray. This highly advanced spray mode is available brand-new range of hansgrohe Raindance Select S showers.

Introducing PowderRain

It's an innovation that will transport you out of your everyday and into a new world of showering. Thousands of fine and silky micro-droplets cover the skin, giving you free rein to get lost in your thoughts and indulge your senses.

Each single PowderRain nozzle has six fine holes that divide the spray into micro-droplets. Due to their lower weight, the droplets then land softly on the skin, and as there's so many of them they cover a much larger area of the body.

This also reduces the splash effect, a tremendous advantage with popular open showers, and a huge relief with the cleaning of closed ones.

PowderRain has even been intensively researched in the hansgrohe sound laboratory and as a result is 30% quieter*. Perfect for a relaxing shower after a tiring day, so you can indulge your senses in PowderRain.

*This value was calculated by comparing the PowderRain spray mode with the Rain spray mode of the Hansgrohe Raindance Select S 120 P with a water pressure of approximately 3 bar

One shower.

Three unique sensory experiences.

At hansgrohe we recognise that everyone has their own idea of what makes the most rewarding showering experience. Featured in the new hansgrohe range of hand and overhead showers, PowderRain offers a relaxing showering sensation to complete your usual morning wake-up routine or as a restful indulgence at the end of a busy day. In addition to PowderRain, the Raindance Select S hand showers feature two further options to match your spray pattern to your mood - Rain and WhirlAir.

Select the spray you desire at the touch of a button:

NEW PowderRain to Relax
Pamper your skin with thousands of fine and silky micro-droplets

Rain to Revitalize
Immerse yourself in a torrent of stimulating water droplets

WhirlAir to Rejuvenate
Relieve tension and soothe muscles with focused jet massage technology

QuickClean
Thanks to the flexible silicone jets, dirt and limescale can be simply wiped away with a finger. This gives the product a long lifetime.
