

Set in stone

Stone-effect tiles are a long-term solution. They suit almost any style and can be used when building or renovating a house.

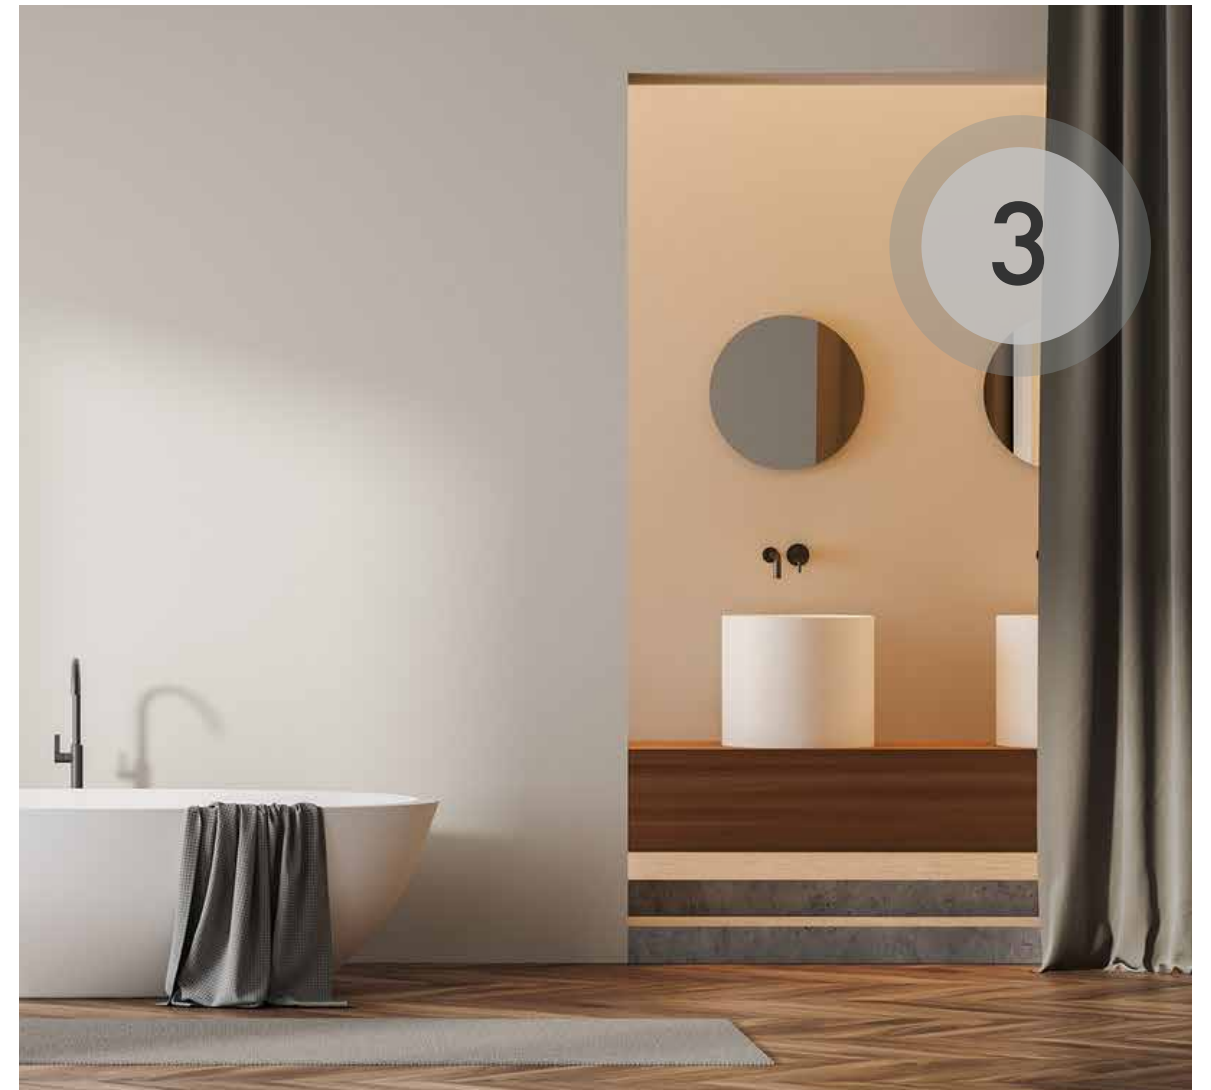

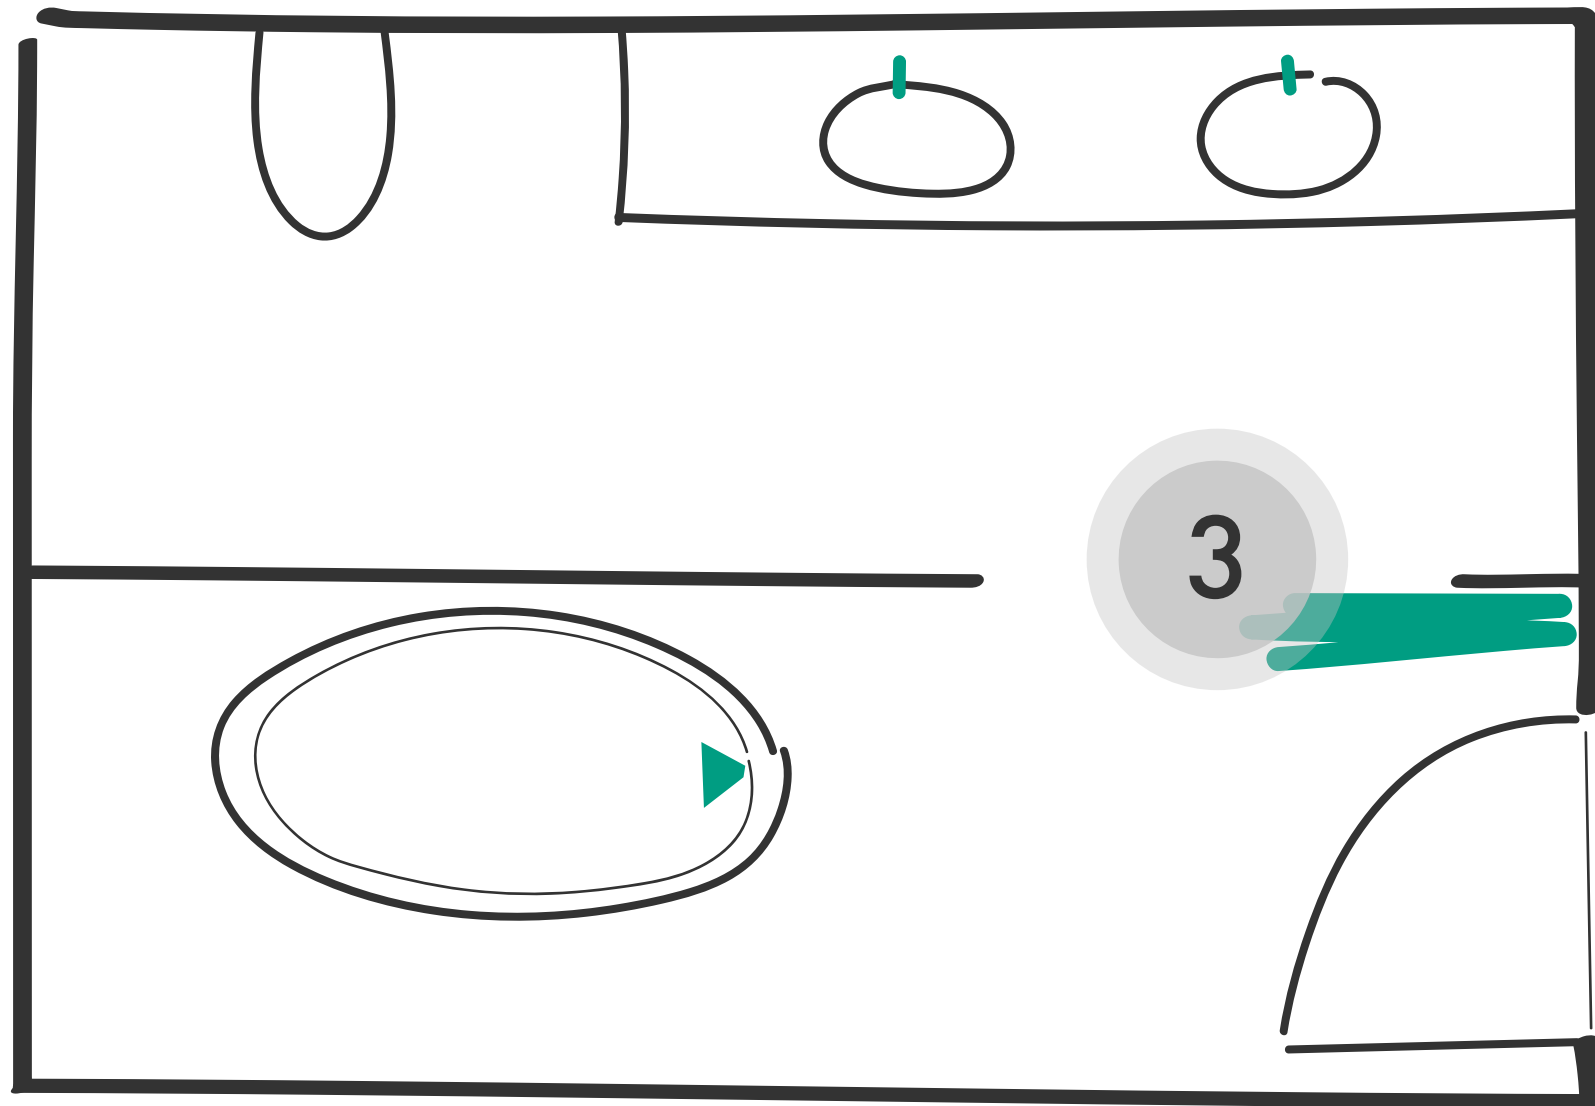

As smooth as glass

Smooth and reflective surfaces such as glass work well in cool industrial-style designs and prevent the room from looking smaller than it is.

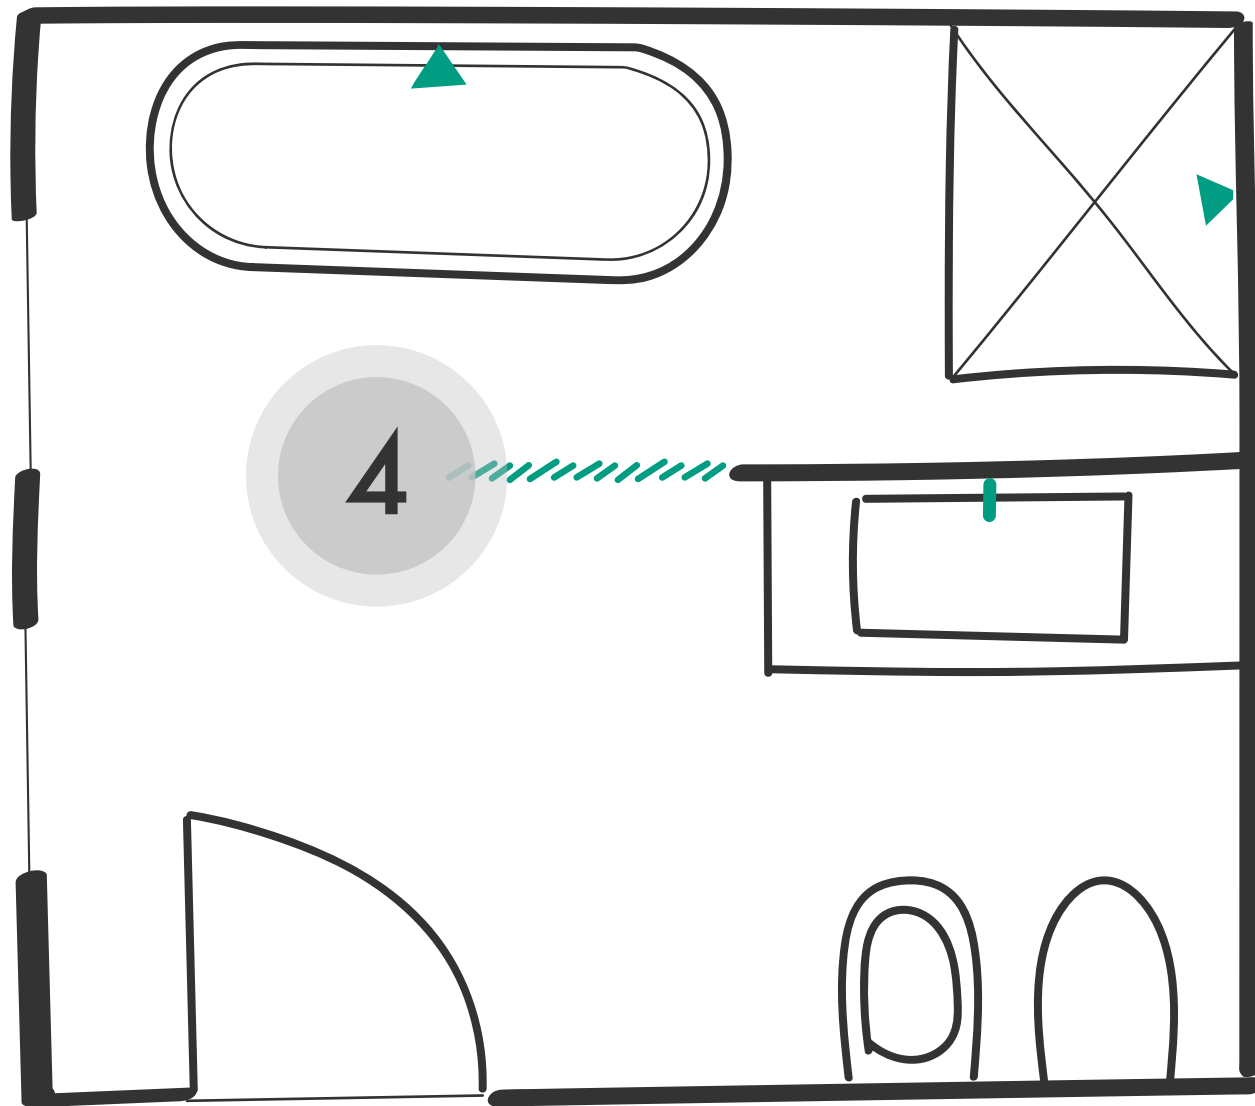

Magical materials

Curtains made of water-repellent materials can be used in many ways and adapted to various needs.

Natural love

Slats of wood or entire tree trunks: A popular design for nature-inspired bathrooms framed by green plants and light colours.

It all stacks up

A floor-to-ceiling shelving unit is another practical solution for more stacking space in the bathroom.
